Road Rage Shooter Kills 8-Year-Old In Backseat!

DeMaree Atkins was sleeping in the backseat of her mom's car at 2:00 a.m. A white Pontiac Grand Prix ran a red light. According to Latoyia Thomas, the mother, "the light was green, and as soon as I got to the light it turned yellow – I couldn't stop." Not able to stop, she t-boned the red-light runner. A second car that was traveling with the Pontiac stopped. The women driver of the Pontiac got into the backseat of the second car. She rolled down the window and fired fire bullets into Thomas's car, killing DeMaree. Editor's note: With guns so available, control of the "critical second" is more devastating then ever. The mother loses a child; and, the shooter will spend the rest of her life in prison for failure to control her rage.

Man gets shot in face after blowing horn at other driver

The driver of a moving van was shot in the face after he blew the horn at a driver. According to Jeffery Mesa, co-worker of the shot driver, "We were on the way to our job. And this guy ran the stop sign, and he was flicking us off, and all we did was beep the horn at him." The gunman then parked his truck up the road and fired directly into the windshield of the moving van. Mesa got behind the wheel, drove the truck to a safe location, got his friend out of the truck, and took his shirt off to help stop the bleeding.

Paramedics were able to treat the wound to the face and shoulder.
